COMMUNITY ARCHAEOLOGY

21st century humanity cross-discipline

Technology effect
People reconnected

Community (public) archaeology as effective applied science

Internet archaeology
Field schools

Videos, movies, lectures, e-books, audiobooks, magazines, newspapers, etc.
Internship and volunteering in museums

Enculturation and socialization

Community archaeology as community of archaeologists

Academic and public contacts through Internet and other media

Social meeting (congresses, conferences, symposia, workshops), guest-lectures

Publishing

Community versus coalitions

Scheme 1. Two branches of community archaeology in the context of the 21st century Paradigm.